

Referee's Assistant – Rugby Union 2007-08 (DVD-ROM)

This is the world-leading, comprehensive interactive guide to all the laws of Rugby Union, developed with and fully endorsed by the International Rugby Board and the Rugby Football Union (RFU) with hundreds of clips of match footage, featuring international teams.

With expert commentary provided by the BBC's Nigel Starmer-Smith, explaining each law in detail, and class-leading 3D animations giving a 'referee's-eye view' of various scenarios and set pieces, this network software engages learners in the classroom like no other. The software also features hundreds of interactive questions to test learners' knowledge, arranged as 'Test yourself' sections at the end of each law module, together with a mock exam, to prepare candidates for the new 'BTEC Laws of Sport – Rugby Union' examination and the Rugby Football Union (RFU's) new Entry-Level Referees Award.

The Referee's Assistant has been specifically designed to support GCSE and A Level PE, BTEC First and National awards in sport, the new Edexcel level 2 BTEC in the 'Laws of Sport - Rugby Union' and the RFU's new Entry-Level Referees Award.

The annual product license is for an unlimited number of users across an unlimited number of your institution's sites and runs until 1st September 2008 (the software is updated annually to keep pace with law changes).
